History and Tradition

The predecessor of Narumi Corporation was founded in 1911. Since that time we have been devoted to producing fine quality tableware. In 1965 Narumi succeeded in mass production of dinner sets of bone china first in Japan. The history of bone china in Japan is based on Narumi Corporation's effort to bring that innovation to Japan. Narumi carefully nurtures those traditions cultivated throughout its history, and the skills that have been passed on over many years to provide our customers with the very best quality.

Authentic Quality

Our production facilities for producing bone china are fully integrated factories that include the printing section. As they are 100% owned by Narumi Corporation, it is capable to take care of every quality check on each production stage. This is the essence for keeping the high quality of Narumi Bone China.

Narumi is committed to fulfilling customer's satisfaction by always maintaining the best quality for its products and services.

Narumi's Mission

Narumi utilizes the traditional techniques of the production for Bone China and the modern core technologies to continuously provide well-designed and high-quality products and services that meet our customer needs. Narumi enhances and contributes to the joy in our customers' lives.

A standard manufacturing process of Bone China entails the following stages. Each stage is handled with highly skilled craftsmanship to ensure the finest quality.

(1) MIXING:

A body mixture is made with bone ash, feldspar, quartz, kaolin, and ball clay. Among all of the ingredients, bone ash (more than 45% of the mixture) is the key ingredient that enhances whiteness and translucency of Bone China.

(2) FORMING:

Forming methods vary depending upon the shapes. Regular round pieces like plates and bowls are generally formed on jiggers, and such irregular pieces as pots and gravy boats are cast in plaster molds. Oval, square, and rectangular pieces, moreover, cast in two-parted plaster molds to stabilize the shapes. The formed bodies, now called 'greenwares,' are left to dry and finished with water sponging to gently remove scratches and scars from the surfaces.

(3) FIRST (BISCUIT) FIRING:

Differing from the conventional porcelain making, the Bone China's first firing, called 'Biscuit firing,' is carried out at a temperature of around 1,200 to 1,300 degrees centigrade in the oxidizing atmosphere.

This process vitrifies the greenwares and makes them durable, white, and translucent. However, in order to achieve the best results within such specific temperature range, the firing schedule must be carefully controlled. Also, about 20% shrinkage of the greenwares occurring at this stage is apt to cause deformation and cracking. In order to overcome this, most pieces are placed on refractory setters, called 'cranks,' to let them follow the profiles of the setters.

(4) GLAZING:

Bone China's glaze is a mixture of frit and kaolin. Because the biscuit (the greenware after first-fired) is nonabsorbent, the glaze needs to be applied by spraying.

(5) SECOND (GLOST) FIRING:

The glaze-coated biscuits are set in the saggars in order to avoid direct exposure to flames. The saggars are piled up on kiln cars and sent into a tunnel kiln. When the temperature goes up to around 1,000 to 1,200 centigrade in the oxidizing atmosphere, the glaze melts and fuses onto the biscuits. All glostwares coming out of the kiln are strictly inspected.

(6) DECORATING:

Bone China's standard decorating methods are spraying, decal transferring, gold/platinum finishing, and hand painting. After the decoration, pieces are fired at 700 to 800 centigrade again to make the pigments fuse into the glaze-coatings. Among the mentioned decorating methods, hand-painting is applied only by proficient artisans. Also, gold or platinum finishing is hand-blushed onto the pieces by well-skilled artisans when necessary.

The process starts with molding clay with a potter's wheel or casting, two time firings of clay and glaze, painting by skillful hand and transfer and then ends with strict inspection. The plant operates 24 hours a day to keep the kiln temperature constant. Narumi Bone China, a true work of art, art of clay and fire, is created by advanced technology and warmth of human hands in a carefully controlled system.

The plant is filled with silent enthusiasm which turns material into high quality products through the processes from precise molding to careful painting.

Narumi is always aiming to give people wonderful opportunities to enjoy splendid tableware that can make their lives much delighted.
